Date

August 24-27, 2027

Mogi Guaçu - São Paulo - Brasil

Expoforest - Feira Florestal Brasileira will take place from August 24 to 27, 2027, in Mogi Guaçu, São Paulo, Brazil. The sixth edition will feature four days of exhibitions, bringing together companies and professionals working with forestry machinery, equipment, supplies and technologies.

Expoforest combines static exhibits with live demonstrations in the field, allowing visitors to discover forestry solutions in an operational setting. From silviculture to timber harvesting, transportation and biomass use, the event provides a platform for technical exchange, product presentations and industry connections.

The exhibition brings industry discussions into the field. Visitors can observe machinery and equipment in operation, explore technology applications in forestry production processes and meet company representatives, engineers and other industry professionals.

The technical programme includes the Seminário de Colheita e Transporte de Madeira (Timber Harvesting and Transportation Seminar) and the Encontro Brasileiro de Silvicultura (Brazilian Silviculture Meeting). Both events will take place on August 23, in the morning and afternoon, and on August 24, in the morning. The exhibition runs from August 24 to 27.

Press and communications professionals can visit the press page on the Expoforest website for event information, press releases and images, and to request media accreditation. The form asks for the media outlet, professional's name, email, WhatsApp telephone number and CPF. Requests will be reviewed by the press office; submitting a request does not confirm accreditation.

The full programme, specific venues for the technical events, the media accreditation deadline and other updates will be announced on the Expoforest 2027 website.
